

NATION-WIDE PROHIBITION RATIFIED

COMPANY M TO WELCOME RETURNED SERVICE MEN

Armory To Be Scene of Impressive Reception To Soldiers, Sailors And Families on Wednesday Evening.

Company M will prove old Kingston to be the patriotic city represented when on next Wednesday evening, January 22d, they will give the returning soldiers and sailors and the immediate families of the men still overseas, a royal welcome in the local armory, intensifying that feeling that the folks at home have not only stood behind them while fighting, but are now ready to greet them home as they lay aside their arms of war and return to their homes and dear ones. The spectacular program is complete, revealing an entertainment "that never before could be collected in this city for any occasion. Charles Martin, the singer from the west, is to be one of the headliners on the bill and it is well said by those who have heard him that he is without a doubt one of the best tenor vocalists in the country.

It must be impressed upon the minds of those entitled to tickets that the last possible date to secure them will be Saturday, January 18th at which time all names must be left at the armory or phoned to 22. The limited number of tickets to be given out is 1,100 and it will be necessary to have your name in no later than Saturday if you do not want to miss the greatest time you have ever had in this city. The names will be carefully looked over to avoid duplication and the tickets issued on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

The doors of the armory will be opened to the guests promptly at 7 o'clock and will remain open until 7:45 o'clock when it is expected that every one will be in their seats for the first act at 7:50. No one will be admitted after 7:45 under any conditions so do not lose out by being late. Schoenfeld's jazz band will play concert music from 7 to 7:45 o'clock, with Irving Spector on the violin, Harry Davis at the piano and Harry S. Robinson on picking the banjo. A 17-piece orchestra will furnish the pep and zip for the dance that follows the show, and putting all the acts as a whole, it sure promises to be the only show ever seen in Kingston and a damned good one too.

The completed program as arranged and planned by Captain Everett Fowler, will appear in Friday's Freeman.

HENEY LINKS MANN WITH PACKERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Further linking the name of James R. Mann, Republican floor leader of the house, with the packing interests of the country, Francis J. Heney, special government investigator, today declared that Mann blocked an investigation of the packers early in 1917. "When Mr. Mann said that his amendment to the agricultural bill proposing that the packers' investigation be placed in the hands of the bureau of markets, he spoke an untruth when he said the packers knew nothing of his amendment," Heney asserted.

"I shall produce letters," he continued, "taken from the private files of meat packers, showing that the packers had conferred with Mr. Mann prior to his amendment and that these conferences related to an effort to sidetrack the Borland resolution which would have placed the investigation in the hands of the federal trade commission."

ODDS AND ENDS

There were no cases in police court this morning.

The ladies of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold a clam chowder sale at the church on Saturday morning beginning at 11 o'clock. The chowder will be good and it will also be good and hot.

The excellent summing up of plaintiff's case in No. 2, the automobile damage case in county court, Wednesday afternoon, by John M. Cashin, of counsel, was most favorably commented on by members of the bar who heard it.

COMMERCE CHAMBER ELECTION FRIDAY

100 Ballots In For Three Directors To Be Elected—Other Matters To Come Before Annual Meeting In New Quarters.

The polls of the Chamber of Commerce annual election of directors will close Friday evening at 8 o'clock. About 100 ballots have already been sent in, and it is expected that many more will be mailed or deposited in person this afternoon and Friday.

In the case of ballots sent by mail, care should be taken to make sure that they are posted in time to reach the Chamber of Commerce office before 8 o'clock Friday evening, for the tellers will begin to count the votes promptly at 8.

The annual meeting will be the first general meeting to be held in the new Chamber of Commerce rooms, 448 Broadway, corner Broadway and E. O'Reilly street. These new quarters are proving to be very satisfactory.

The Chamber of Commerce now has the advantage of a location on the ground floor and has ample space for the holding of committee and group meetings in its own office. Close to 100 people can be seated. The office of the Ulster County War Chest Association is established in one part of the Chamber of Commerce office. War Chest collections are very satisfactory.

At the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow evening, three directors are to be elected. The new board of directors will organize and elect its officers. President Joseph M. Herbert and Secretary Hudson will present their reports of the activities of the chamber.

Immediately at the close of the annual meeting, there will be a brief joint session of the board of directors and special committee, of which Judge Joseph M. Fowler is chairman. Judge is to represent the Chamber of Commerce at the public service commission hearing set for Wednesday, January 22, 10 a. m., at Kingston City Hall, to consider the elimination of the Broadway grade crossing.

SWISS ARREST MORE BOLSHEVISTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Geneva, Jan. 16.—Many suspected Bolshevists were arrested here and at Lausanne today on orders from Bern.

Among those arrested at Lausanne were certain Bolshevists who are alleged to have been plotting against the safety of Premier Clemenceau.

SCHOENHART COMMISSION

Remuneration Case Up In Appellate Division.

On Wednesday's calendar of the appellate division, supreme court, third department, was the following case of local interest:

In the matter of the application of the board of water supply of the city of New York, appellant, to acquire land for the Schoenharth reservoir, respondent. Appeal from order of Justice Harshbarger at the Kingston special term, directing the city of New York to pay the commissioners the following amounts for their services: Clyde H. Propper of Schoenharth, $4,141.18; Valentine Taylor, $2,719.54; Joseph W. Stevens, former mayor of Albany, $2,350.17; estate of Rufus Thayer, $1,450.50. Objection was made that the allowance was excessive. Case submitted.

Acme Cement Plant Sold.

The Acme Cement corporation plant at Acme, five miles south of Canastota, was sold at public auction by the board of directors Wednesday. The property was bought by William Shand of Lancaster, Pa., for $12,000, subject to a mortgage of $300,000 with accumulated interest amounting to $27,000. The plant employed 200 men and has been closed since December, 1917. The plant was erected fifteen years ago at a cost of approximately $2,000,000. After its completion it stood idle for several years. The Acme Cement company bought it about four years ago.

Reduction in Army.

London, Jan. 16.—Bolsheviks have occupied the important Russian port of Makh, on the Baltic coast, said a dispatch to the Daily Mail today. Two hundred houses at Makh were destroyed in the fighting.

IN THE SERVICE OF OUR COUNTRY

MILTON HORNBECK.

Son of Mrs. Elmer Hornbeck of No. 216 Catherine street, this city. He is a resident of Yonkers and a member of the American Expeditionary Forces overseas.

Robert Frazee, who enlisted in the U. S. navy and was stationed on the U. S. S. Massachusetts, was honorably discharged and returned to his home, No. 53 Gill street.

Miss Ellis of 110 Gage street, has just received the following letter from Private Jack Howard, a Kingston boy: France, Dec. 25, 1918. Dear Miss Ellis—Haven't heard from you in quite some time. If you have written to me it hasn't reached me. An ex-pecting to come back home in January or February. Am now in a Casual Company. I don't know what has become of my company. Haven't seen them since August. Here's wishing you a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year. My best regards. Yours, Jack H. Howard, Casual Co. No. 1, A. P. O. 726.

The annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow evening, three directors are to be elected. The new board of directors will organize and elect its officers. President Joseph M. Herbert and Secretary Hudson will present their reports of the activities of the chamber.

GRANGE CASES UP IN SUPREME COURT

Supreme court reconvened in the court room at the court house, this morning, after the county court had taken a recess. No. 32, of the December calendar, was taken up by Justice Nichols, without a jury, being the H. S. Caspell Co. vs. David Slier, master of the Halcottville Grange. This is an action to recover on two notes of $42 each. John C. Cahill for plaintiff; O'Connor & O'Connor for defendant. There are two other cases to be tried against the same defendant, Grange No. 65.

Derrebaucher Candy Company, plaintiff, and No. 128, Guilford Hasbrouck, plaintiff, the first for $60 for goods sold and delivered, and the second for $20 for goods sold and delivered. Henry Klein is attorney for plaintiff in both cases; Joseph M. Fowler of counsel. The Halcottville Grange ran a store at Halcottville in 1916, but the store has changed owners three times since and is now run by a man named Verhulst, who has been treasurer of the Grange.

On motion of John T. Cahill, attorney for plaintiff in No. 32, the case was put over in order to amend the complaint. The other two cases were tried.

TWO DEAD IN FIRE

In Boston and Another Dying—Several Leap From Windows.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Boston, Jan. 16.—Two are dead and another is dying at the city hospital as a result of being trapped by fire in their rooms on the top floor of the South End lodging house.

General Jones and Mrs. Julia Lee, the landlady, leaped to the street from windows.

INQUIRING INTO BOSTON EXPLOSION

Brother-in-law of John L. Sullivan Among 11 Victims of Molasses in January Blow-up—Sixty Injured.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Boston, Jan. 16.—Investigations are under way today to fix responsibility for the explosion of the gigantic molasses tank on the waterfront yesterday, causing the death of eleven persons, the injury of sixty and property damage estimated at $500,000.

The details are being searched by police, firemen, soldiers and sailors at the request of frantic relatives seeking members of their families who are still missing. All of the identified dead and injured were local people. Among the dead is John Lennon, a brother-in-law of the late John L. Sullivan, famous pugilist.

GOV'T WIRELESS CONTROL SET BACK

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Secretary Daniels's proposed permanent government ownership and control of American wireless, under the supervision of the navy department is "dead" in so far as the present congress is concerned. Representative Alexander, Democrat, of Missouri, chairman of the house merchant marine committee, announced this afternoon.

Alexander stated that he and the other members of his committee, both Democratic and Republican, had agreed in executive session that in view of the sharp difference of opinion regarding Secretary Daniels's proposal, both in the committee and in the house, it would be impossible to put it through at this session of congress, especially because of the existing legislative jam. The committee, therefore, decided to table for the remainder of the session the bill which Alexander sponsored at Secretary Daniels's request, after it had been prepared by the navy department. No vote was taken on the tabling of the bill, Alexander added.

ITALIAN CABINET HAS RESIGNED

Dissension Over Italy's Territorial Claims Culminates in Collapse—Orlando to Form New Cabinet.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Rome, Jan. 16.—The Italian cabinet resigned today.

Premier Orlando has been commissioned to form a new ministry.

The downfall of the Orlando cabinet was brought about by dissensions over Italy's territorial claims. The first break came when Leonida Bissolati resigned as minister of public assistance and pensions early in January. Then came the threat of Francesco Nitti, minister of the Italian treasury, to resign, which resulted in the hurried return of Premier Orlando from Paris to Rome.

Bissolati, who is a member of the Socialist faction that was favorable to the war, has been backing President Wilson's policy and opposing the policy of annexations outlined by Baron Sonnino, the foreign minister in the Orlando cabinet.

Bissolati expressed himself as believing that Italy would be sharing a dangerous course if she were to insist upon the annexation of all of the Italian coast in opposition to the Juscelius claims.

Baron Sonnino has been insisting on the enforcement of the treaty of London and the complete occupation of Dalmatia.

No Decision in New Paltz Case.

The taking of testimony before Justice Nichols without a jury, in the supreme court library, in the action brought by the Village of New Paltz vs. the New Paltz, Highland and Poughkeepsie Traction Co., was completed Wednesday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock. The court reserved decision. A press was then taken until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

NEBRASKA'S DECISION MADE RESULT CERTAIN

Country Probably Dry After July 1 Next as Expectation is That President's Proclamation Will Be Extended to January 16, 1920, When Amendment Takes Effect—Wets Still Grasp at Technicalities of Law.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Jan. 16.—John Barleycorn is dead. On January 16, 1920, the constitutional amendment making the nation dry will go into effect, having been ratified by thirty-six states. To Nebraska fell the post of coming under the wire today with the final ratification. "The perfect 36th," she was hailed with shouts of joy in the house.

Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas, one of the "fathers" of the dry fight in congress, declared there could be no question but that the amendment will go into force one year from today, while others expressed some doubt as to whether it would not be delayed until a year from the day it is promulgated by the secretary of state. Because of the one year clause, which is without precedent, there also was some question as to whether the promulgation would not be retroactive, dating from today.

Expectation that the presidential proclamation making the country "dry" after July 1, this year, will be extended, makes the dry forces in Washington certain that the drinking public will become "home dry" after that date.

Little fear was expressed by Prohibition leaders that the proposed plan of the "wets" to attack the constitutionality of the amendment will change the outcome.

Jubilant was a mild word to express their sentiments when the news came flashing in that Nebraska, already dry, had turned the trick.

"It was a certainty, and we have known since last year, that the amendment would be adopted between January 15 and January 26," said E. C. Dinwiddie, legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League. "The pledges had been made and it was as certain as sunrise."

So far, only 14 of the states have certified their action to the state department. In California, court action has been insisted to prevent Governor Stephens from signing the ratification on the ground that the state constitution requires a referendum. Similar action will be taken in other states it is asserted by the attorneys for the "wets." In any event, it is certain that the question will be fought into the supreme court of the United States.

These are straws at which drinkers are snatching, but cold comfort is offered them by the Prohibition leaders both in and out of congress. "There will be a total of at least 44 states to ratify before state assemblies adjourn this year," is their declaration, "and should the courts knock out the action of a state here and there it will not affect the final result. The nation will say good night to alcoholic drinks and the public might as well begin preparing for the obsequies right now."

The resolution providing for the amendment was passed in the senate on August 1, 1917, by a vote of 65 to 20 and in the house on December 17, 1917, by a vote of 282 to 128. The first state to ratify was Mississippi, January 8, 1918. Only one amendment—prohibiting slavery—requiring such ratification ever was adopted in such a short length of time.

When the necessary 36 states have notified the state department officially of their action, it will be declared in force. Missouri also ratified today. Connecticut, Minnesota, Nevada, New Mexico, Vermont and Wyoming regarded as certain to ratify, and the dry declare they will ratify Pennsylvania, making a total of 44. The 26 states which have ratified represent a population of 70,500,000.

Following official notification of the ratification, congress must, under the new amendment, proceed to enact laws providing for penalties and means of enforcement.

The ratification was announced in the house this afternoon by Representative Randall of California, Franciscanist, and in the senate by Senator Sheppard of Texas, the announced being greeted with prolonged applause by Prohibition supporters.

"The prohibition amendment was ratified today," Senator Sheppard announced. "One day less than thirteen months from the date of its submission to the states. It was ratified more quickly than any other constitutional amendment with the exception of the anti-slavery act. The adoption of the amendment means the dawning of a new day, the advent of a new democracy." Sheppard said "the United States is the first of the world's great powers to inaugurate a regulation for a nationwide prohibition in its organic law."

"It is the first step in the liberation for human welfare that must follow the European war, if the lesson of that conflict are to be acted upon."

When the amendment of No. 21 of the United States constitution is ratified, the capital of the world will be a dry city.

EBERT DISARMING BERLIN CIVILIANS

And Seeks Liebknecht and Eichenhorn—Seeks to Reconquer for Germany in East What She Lost in West.

By Agency Radio to International News Service.

Berlin, Jan. 16.—Chancellor Ebert has ordered the arrest of Karl Liebknecht and Robert Emil Eichenhorn, who led the Spartacists in the recent fighting in Berlin. Both are missing but their arrest is expected soon, said advices from Berlin today.

The German government has prohibited the sale of counter revolutionary newspapers and all merchants who violate this command are being arrested.

The systematic disarmament of all civilians in Berlin by the war ministry is under way.

Bavarian Gov't Aims.

Berlin, Jan. 16.—In order to keep out Bolshevism and Spartacist group agitators, the Bavarian government at Munich has issued an order that in the future all German subjects will need passports to cross the frontier into Bavaria, according to information from Munich today.

Would Reconquer East.

London, Jan. 16.—Germany is determined to oppose to the utmost the establishment of an independent Poland and propagandists in Germany are striving to make the people believe that Poland as an independent state would be "considered a death blow to the recreation of a German empire."

The Germans are handing over arms to the Bolshevists who are advancing Poland, thus making the country an easy prey for German penetration.

It is Chancellor Ebert's policy to reconquer through the east what was lost in the west. The Germans are apparently willing to lose the west bank of the Rhine temporarily in order to attain their ends in the east.

It is learned that a secret meeting of all German parties was held at which it was agreed that the Polish provinces were economically unnecessary to Germany but it was decided to keep up the flood of propaganda leading the public to believe that "Germany would not be without them."

The Allies by supplying the Poles with arms and munitions through banks would effectively counter the German scheme.

Police Lost Heavily Tuesday.

ULSTER PIONEER IN GERMAN FAMILY

Finds Hospitality at Thanksgiving Time As Host Refuses Pay and Serves Dinner To Five Members of 51st Pioneers.

Company M, 51st Pioneer Infantry, A. P. O. 775, American Expeditionary Forces. He writes his mother:

CORPORAL P. NORTON.

er. Mrs. Adaline Norton, No. 87 Stephen street, this city, as follows:

Aspet, Luxemburg, Nov. 29, 1918.

Dear Mother:—Just a few lines to let you know that I am well and hope that the rest of the family are the same. I have not had a letter from you in a month. What is the matter, did everybody give up writing? I am going to tell you something I did not tell before. We left Camp Merritt on July 25th, boarded the U. S. S. Kronland, on the 26th of July, sailed about 4 p. m., landed at Brest, France, on August 5th, went to a rest camp and stayed about a week, pulled out one morning and went back to Brest and got on the cars, rode for four days and four nights and landed in Maron, hiked from there to Chilaing, stayed there for three or four days, then went to Pont, St. Vincent about four miles away, worked there for a month or so and started one night about 9 o'clock and hiked to Toul, about 20 miles away. We stayed there for about two months and went to Menil la Tour, stayed there about three weeks, got attached to the Third army and now we are hitting for Germany. We hiked for three days, made about 55 miles, then we rested for two days and hiked three more days, landed here last Saturday and we are here yet in a small town called Aspet. We have made about 90 miles altogether. I guess we crossed No Man's Land and believe me we saw some sights. Some towns are wiped right off the map, in some places only the sides of the houses are standing. We are expected to move any day again. The are five of us staying in a house with some Dutch people and believe me they treat us fine. We sleep in the kitchen on the floor. Every night they give us a couple bundles of straw to sleep on. About every day she asks us if we want some German fried potatoes and believe me they are fine, for we have had them three or four times. Today they held their first Thanksgiving in this country and they are going to have rabbit and he wants us to eat with them. We wanted to buy a rabbit and have her cook it for us but nothing doing he said, we had to eat with him so I guess we will.

Well give my regards to all and when you write to John tell him I was asking about him and Mr. Bennett also. Well good-by. From your loving son.

All the power of the Wilson administration was put behind the Ford campaign for senator from Michigan. If ever there was an improper use of power, it was manifested in that contest. To expose and offset that attempt of the national administration to dictate a senatorial election in their state, the Republicans of Michigan spent considerable money. Money was never spent in a more important fight for the preservation of the purity of elections. The issue was whether White House dictation should be permitted to force upon the people of Michigan a senator who represented their views in no respect—who was a pacifist, a free-trader, an ignoramus in political history, and a plant tool of the president. To save the honor and dignity of the state of Michigan called for heroic efforts. The men who made the effort are worthy of the highest commendation. The sovereignty of the people of Michigan has been asserted and attempted dictation from the White House has been rebuffed. If the attempt of Henry Ford to contest the election of Newberry has been instigated by the administration at Washington, another rebuke will be forthcoming in due time. President Wilson's solicitude for the "self-determination" of the Poles, the Czech-Slovaks, and a lot of other small European peoples should be extended to the people of Michigan. When he apologizes for his pretended interest in subjugated people of Europe. In the meantime, it is up to the people of Michigan to demand that the senate very promptly sent their choice for senator.

Those who are wavering on the subject of government ownership of railroads may find food for thought in a little story that is going the rounds of the press concerning an incident that is alleged to have happened in the private car of Director General McAdoo on one of his trips. It is related that a friend who was traveling with McAdoo remarked upon the enthusiastic encomiums pronounced on McAdoo by numerous railroad employees who boarded his car from time to time. "Yes, and they are all equally as enthusiastic. And there are 2,300,000 of them—and every one a voter." It is immaterial whether this incident actually occurred or not. It is immaterial whether McAdoo actually said there were 2,300,000 of them, and every one a voter. That is the fact, whether he said it or not, and that fact will always be in the mind of a government director of railroads. The votes will never be lost sight of under government ownership. The efficiency, the economic soundness, the success of the railroads or of any other enterprise under government operation, will eventually be subordinated to the one outstanding fact that every one of the employees is a voter. The rights of the shippers, the rights of taxpayers who must pay deficits, the rights of stockholders, may all be given minor consideration, for they are only indirectly affected by a raising of wages or a shortening of hours of labor, and their votes can and will be influenced by the action of the political director general, as a corrupting influence in American politics, there is no greater menace than government ownership.

THE ANXIOUS LITERALIST.

Confirmed sticklers for the letter of the law are sometimes as blind as a bat to its real spirit. Outbursts of this sort is again illustrated in the disapproval becoming vocal in some quarters when it was learned that President Wilson had been given a set of books by King George and a costly mosaic by King Menelik. The acceptance of these gifts—of Congress consists, as it so doubtless is, in permitting by even the letter of the Constitution, which reads: "No person holding any office of profit or trust under them, shall, without the consent of Congress, accept any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever, from any prince or foreign state." The obvious intent of this ruling, as any one can see, is to prevent a person who is in receipt of a salary from accepting gifts from foreign states.

foreign country in return for value received. Though this law is desirable as a means of preventing what it seeks to prevent, its spirit does not really forbid the acceptance of small gifts of courtesy by an American official who is a guest in a foreign country, for such gifts can do no harm and may even promote international friendship. Does anybody really fear that President Wilson can be attached to the interests of King George, at the expense of the interests of the United States, by the gift of a set of books? This question alone is sufficient to reveal the absurdity of the complaint.

There is an agreeable thrill in the news that Americans first broke through the Hindenburg line, as well as a gratifying recognition of the appropriate and the courteous in the fact that this is pointed out, not by General Pershing, but by Field Marshal Haig, the British commander-in-chief. It is highly interesting to know that the Hindenburg line was first broken by Carolinians, Tennesseans and District of Columbians on the right gallantly supported on the left by New York troops who could have foretold this great event fifty-odd years ago when the Carolinians and New Yorkers were fighting each other in the war for the independence or "self-determination" of the Southern States?

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"I never saw a woman so full of energy." "Nor I. Why, merely correcting her mistakes keeps two men busy."—Life.

"I have a friend who is ambidextrous." "Ain't that awful! Is he taking any treatment for it?"—Baltimore American.

"Here's your hoe, your rake, and your spade." "Fashionable Workers!" "Quite so. And where's my caddy?"—Kansas City Journal.

"He has a wonderful education." "Yes, but he uses it only in employing very large words to express a very small idea."—Washington Star.

Grover—"Did that watermelon I sold you do for your whole family?" Customer—"Very nearly. The doctor is calling yet."—Boston Transcript.

Patience—"I saw Harry at the patriotic meeting last night. He was in khaki." "Patience—"Oh, you saw him, did you?" "Yes, and he was so patriotic that he stood up during the entire meeting." "Oh, that wasn't altogether patriotic, I'm afraid." "No, but yesterday was the first day he'd tried to ride a horse."—Yonkers Statesman.

Rapid Promotion.

The late Adm. Mahan, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, was talking with a lady at a luncheon about the British Navy.

"But, my dear madam," said the admiral, "it is hard to discuss these matters with you because you are so—er, pardon me—so unfamiliar with the terminology of the subject. You remind me of the young wife who was speaking to her brother about her volunteer husband."

"Isn't Jack just wonderful?" she said. "He's already been promoted to field marshal."

"From private to field marshal in two months. Impossible!" said the brother.

"Did I say field marshal?" murmured the young wife. "Well, perhaps it's court martial. I know it's one or the other."—Exchange.

Speeding Up Things.

The nobility and gentry of Little Plowboro were recently gathered in the village school room to enjoy some tableaux vivants by local performers. The curtain had just fallen on a really creditable picture of the death of Nelson, shown to music.

"Keep your seats, please," said the stage manager. "We're much obliged for your kind applause, ladies and gentlemen, and we're going to give you the death of Nelson over again."

"Oh, are yer?" came from a friend of the man who was playing the chief part. "Then, if you'll tell Nelson a kitchen chimney's afire and 'is wife 'est had a couple of 'is traps, 'e won't die so blessed lingerin'."—Exchange.

Had Needed Him.

"Tommy, you were absent from school yesterday," said the teacher. "Yes," answered the boy. "Father wanted me to go fishin' with him." "But don't you know it would have been more profitable to have come to school?"

"Why, we wouldn't have brought home a dum fish if I hadn't been along."—Yonkers Statesman.

Hard to Swallow.

Food Controller Hoover said at a mealish luncheon to a complaining girl:

"The strongest people, the Turks and Japs, are vegetarians. The strongest animals—the elephant, for example—are vegetarians, too. The girl's lip curled.

"Yes," she said. "If they weren't so strong they'd never be able to stand vegetarianism."—Exchange.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, Jan. 16.—Highland Epworth Union went to Milton this Friday evening. We presume they will have a grand time. They are to have some fine addresses and we were informed refreshments would be served.

The Order of Odd Fellows held their meeting on Thursday evening, at which time they installed their new officers. At the completion of work refreshments were served.

Mrs. William Peter, Sr., is ill. Her many friends hope she may gain her strength rapidly and be able to get around very soon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lent of Milton avenue entertained a few friends on Monday evening. A very enjoyable time was spent.

Miss Hawkins who has been home for vacation, has returned and resumed her duties as teacher in the high school here.

Miss Hazel Sheeley is improving, which is very gratifying to the family and her many friends.

Mrs. Alfred Palmer of Poughkeepsie was a guest last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Palmer of this place.

Mrs. Rhule was a shopper in Poughkeepsie on Wednesday.

Mrs. George Cornell and daughter were in Poughkeepsie on Saturday, also Mrs. Jack Lucas and children.

The U. D. Society met at the home of Mrs. A. H. Hasbrouck last Saturday and enjoyed a very pleasant social afternoon.

Clarence J. Elting, also his wife, have heavy colds. We hope for their speedy recovery.

Lorin Osterhout and Mrs. F. L. Metcalf were in Lloyd last Sunday, attending service and election of officers for Sunday school.

At the library Tuesday evening there was a good attendance of people, who had secured tables in advance for cards and different games. All enjoyed the evening and were glad to do whatever they could to assist in the support of said library.

LeGrand Haviland has gone to Rochester as representative of the Grange here.

Adonai Lodge, F. & A. M., held their regular meeting on Monday evening, when they installed their officers.

Zeno Lodge, K. of P., met last Wednesday evening and elected their officers for the ensuing year.

Miss Grace Scott is ill at her home on Washington avenue. Her friends are anxious for her recovery.

Mrs. Phoebe Cobb of Kingston was a guest of Mrs. H. H. Becker Wednesday.

Miss Lulu Constable, who has been ill for several days at her home, is at present on the road to recovery.

Miss Esther Bond has been confined to her home for several days with a severe attack of pleurisy. At this writing she is improving, which we are glad to hear.

Most interesting services were held in the First M. E. Church Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, with the attendance, which is encouraging to all.

Woman's Foreign Missionary Society held their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. S. A. and Miss Julia Trevis.

There was a fine attendance, good program and several guests who enjoyed every moment of the meeting. It is a pleasure to get out to these very enthusiastic gatherings for one certainly derives benefit from them. We hope the membership will be increased and a great deal of good accomplished in this way of 1919.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nichols spent Sunday at Kingston.

Mrs. Cummings Winchell and family of Kingston are spending a few days with her parents here. Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Barley.

Right Idea About Business.
 The old idea that business is getting the better of your neighbor is not only "bad business," but nonsense. Business is not getting the better of but doing the best for your neighbor—and yourself. If business is not mutually profitable it is mutually destructive. My neighbor's prosperity helps mine and mine his. When that old pernicious notion is finally exploded the millennium of business will be at hand, the era of universal peace between capital and labor.—Lord Leverhulme.

FOUR MINUTE MEN DISBAND AT DINNER

Activities of Speakers Who Did Much to Quickened Patriotic Endeavor During War Close With Felicitous Banquet at Eagle Hotel.

The brilliant and busy career of the Kingston Division of the Four-Minute Men ended Wednesday evening at the Eagle Hotel when certificates of service were presented and after banquet and speeches Chairman Thomas J. Comerford formally declared the meeting adjourned and the Division disbanded. The meeting was one of hundreds held all over the country where the Four-Minute men have labored to enlighten, warn and persuade the American people on matters pertaining to war work. The Kingston Division during its life participated in 30 campaigns of enlightenment or appeal, delivered 842 speeches and addressed audiences estimated to aggregate 654,100. Acting Chairman Comerford was Vice Chairman Charles H. O'Connor, Director of Sinking Division Harry P. Dodge and the following Four-Minute Men:

D. G. Aldrich, Milton O. Auchmoody, Rev. T. H. Baragwanath, D. D. Clifford, T. Bennett, Elva H. Bogart, William D. Brimmer, Jr., Palmer Canfield, Jr., Eugene B. Carey, John M. Cashin, Howard Chipp, A. T. Clearwater, Thomas J. Comerford, Arthur C. Connolly, Andrew J. Cook, P. H. Cullen, William C. DeWitt, John W. Eckert, Newton H. Fessenden, Harry H. Fleming, Joseph M. Fowler, George C. Gildersleeve, Vincent A. Gorman, George W. Greene, J. DeWay Hasbrouck, James Jenkins, Robert E. Leighton, James Lippman, John P. Mack, John E. Mahan, Emanuel Metzger, M. P. Morse, Charles R. O'Connor, John M. Quinn, Lee, Frank B. Sealey, Philip Sherry, Frederick Splan, Jr., Francis L. Thornbury, Frederick G. Traver, Alfred D. Van Buren, Amos Van Eren, John G. Van Eren and Charles W. Walton.

In charge of the felicitous arrangements for the banquet and final meeting was a committee composed of Newton H. Fessenden, chairman; Judge Joseph M. Fowler, John E. Mahan, Charles R. O'Connor and Emanuel Metzger. The menu was as follows:

Qoster Cocktails. Queen Olives. Fresh Smelts. Potatoes. Roast Mignon of Beef Au Jus. Mashed Potatoes. Boiled White Onions. Cream Sauce. Macaroni au Gratin. Waldorf Salad. Ice Cream. Cake. Coffee.

When cigars were lighted Mr. Comerford proposed this toast to the president of the United States:

"To Woodrow Wilson, twenty-eighth President of the United States, Champion of Democracy, Premier Statesman, Spokesman for Civilization, Gentle as a babe yet strong and firm as Gibraltar itself, Wise, Just, Courageous, Far-sighted and today representing the American people in a mission calculated to insure the perpetuity of the peace that has been achieved in great measure by force of American arms."

Toastmaster Comerford reviewed briefly the rise and work of the Four-Minute Men and their labors. The Kingston Division, with the possible exception of the Rochester Division, stands highest in the state. He then introduced George W. Greene, a young man who left his law studies to do the khaki as the first speaker, his topic being "Minute Men and Four-Minute Men." Mr. Greene's address was an eloquent tribute to the work of the Minute Men of 1775, their Americanism and ideals of service and sacrifice, and a plea for watchfulness in order to preserve the ideals they fought for.

Judge Jenkins, the next speaker, whose topic was "Work in Local Campaigns," and who had been called on short notice to substitute for Judge Clearwater and Mr. Chipp, said that under the circumstances he felt himself lucky to be speaking on "Clear water," but managed to relate some amusing incidents of his life as a Four-Minute man. The work he said, had made people think, feel and act. There are still dangers, intolerance, ignorance and greed are not dead. There are still profiteers, politicians and bootlickers without respect for the rights of others. In Europe the huns are returning to the coast from which they were sent and now seek to pick the bones of Germany.

The Rev. Dr. T. H. Baragwanath, speaking on "Any Old Thing," said he was glad to attend this private celebration of the Four-Minute Men and doubted the public was more glad it was being held. No longer would the Four-Minute Men look back on the Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin and Mary Pickford from displaying their sublime art and others from displaying more than their art on the screen. The end of the war does not end the need for work for a better country and a better world.

After the presentation of certificates in which Judge Stephan and Amos Van Eren assisted Chairman Comerford, the chairman made an earnest plea for loyalty, regardless of party, and formally declared the Four-Minute Men disbanded.

Editor's Note.
A budding author sent a humorous paragraph to the editor of a daily paper. Not finding it printed within a reasonable time or hearing from the editorial department, he wrote to inquire about it. "I sent you a joke about ten days ago. I have heard nothing respecting its safe receipt and should be glad to hear whether you have seen it." The editor's reply was as follows: "Your joke arrived safely, but again the present we have not seen it."

BIG SHOE BILLS CAN BE CUT

"I will always wear shoes with Neolin Soles," writes Mr. C. Newman of the J. Newman Mfg. Co. of Minneapolis. "They are superior soles in every way, waterproof, more comfortable and more durable. After many months of wear they remain in good condition."

Mr. Newman, and millions of others, have found that the answer to the shoe-bill problem lies in getting soles that wear a long time—Neolin Soles.

They are scientifically made, very tough and yet have the other qualities that sold shoes for years. Get Neolin-soled shoes for your whole family. They are found nearly everywhere and in all styles. Have worn shoes repaired with Neolin Soles. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

STILL IN DARK AGES

As Regards Terminal Freight Handling, Redfield Tells New Am'n.

By Telegram to The Freeman, New York, Jan. 16.—Did you know—

That it costs more to load a barrel of flour into a railroad car at Chicago than it does to transport it from Chicago to New York? Or—

That it costs more to load a box or barrel into a liner at the wharves in the United States than to transport it from New York to Liverpool?

Secretary of Commerce, Redfield says that these are facts. He said so here today in an address before the Material Handling Machinery Manufacturers' Association at the Hotel McAlpin. The reason for this great cost—the greatest of the whole transportation expense—is the employment of individual labor instead of machinery in the handling of most goods at terminal and wharf, the secretary said.

"We are still in the dark ages in the handling of much of the material we transport," he continued.

Secretary Redfield welcomed the formation of the association, saying that the work of providing machinery for the handling of material at loading points, the members "have the keen interest of the department of commerce and my own earnest hope for an early and complete success."

ELSTER WINS BANNER

For Efficiency in Loyal Temperance Legion Work.

W. C. T. U. members and people interested in temperance work will be pleased to learn of the high standing of the Loyal Legion in Ulster county has attained. Four years ago Miss Mildred Moody, state L. T. U. secretary, offered a banner to the county reaching an efficiency standard of 100 per cent. Ulster has filled the requirements for the four years and thus has been placed on the state honor roll and awarded the banner. Some legions have also met the requirements of the national secretary and become "star legions" and received a silver star pin from the national secretary.

Ulster county in the past has done excellent work but this year has seen the most accomplished, for it has led all counties in the state, going "over the top" the efficiency standard reached having been one hundred and sixty-nine per cent. Much of this credit is due to the deep interest and untiring effort of the county secretary, Mrs. Minnie Palmer, who has always responded to the call of the duties entrusted to her care with enthusiasm and energy, thus bringing results.

Recently Mrs. Palmer received a gold watch from the state secretary for having attained the highest percentage.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Autumn to winter, winter to spring, Spring into summer, summer into fall—So rolls the changing year, and so we change.

A CAKE WITH A CUP OF TEA.

Small cakes of various kinds may be made now which will last all winter and make a cup of tea a real joy if accompanied with a dainty cake or cookie.

Cinnamon Stars.—Take one pound of unblanched almonds, chopped fine, one pound of powdered sugar, whites of seven eggs, one teaspoonful of cinnamon. Beat the egg whites stiff and dry, fold in the cinnamon. Take out one-third of the mixture and into the rest fold the almonds. Spread powdered sugar on a board and form the mixture into a sheet a fourth of an inch thick. Cut in stars, cover with icing, set aside and bake in a very slow oven.

Peppernuts.—Beat four eggs 15 minutes with a Dover eggbeater, add one pound of powdered sugar and beat another 15 minutes. Add the grated rind and juice of one lemon, one teaspoonful of powdered cinnamon, one-half a teaspoonful of cloves, one-half a teaspoonful of baking powder. Add flour to roll and cut with very small cutters. Bake on buttered tin in a moderate oven.

Nut Cakes.—Take one cupful of nutmeats, chopped fine, one cupful of sugar, one cupful of flour, two eggs. Flavor with lemon or rose and form into small balls the size of a walnut, and bake.

Springerles.—Beat four eggs as stiff as possible (15 minutes is about long enough), add a pound of powdered sugar and beat again 15 minutes. Add flour to which a teaspoonful of baking powder has been sifted and roll out. Place the springerles round face down and press with a weight to print the figures well into the dough. With a sharp knife cut the cakes apart and let them stand over night. In the morning sprinkle with aniseed and bake in a moderate oven. Do not add too much flour.

Truffles.—Roll rich pastry very thin, spread with butter and sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar. Roll up very tightly and cut in little lengths, bake and then roll in powdered sugar before serving.

PRINCE ALBERT

SAY, you'll have a streak of smokeluck that'll put pep-in-your-smokemotor, all right if you'll ring-in with a jimmy pipe or cigarette papers and nail some Prince Albert for packing!

Just between ourselves, you never will wise-up to high-spot smoke-joy until you can call a pipe by its first name, then, to hit the peak-of-pleasure you land square on that two-fisted-man tobacco, Prince Albert!

Well, sir, you'll be so all-fired happy you'll want to get a photograph of yourself breezing up the pike with your smokethroting wide open! Talk about smoke-sport! Quality makes Prince Albert so appealing all along the smoke line. Men who never before could smoke a pipe and men who've smoked pipes for years all testify to the delight it hands out! P. A. can't bite or parch! Both are cut out by our exclusive patented process!

Right now while the going's good you get out your old jimmy pipe or the papers and land on some P. A. for what ails your particular smokemotor!

THE DAIRYMEN'S LEAGUE BRIEF

The Producers' Side of the New York Milk Fight—Claim Public Has Been Badly Misinformed.

Following is a statement issued by the Dairymen's League:

On the twentieth of December, 1918, the representatives of the Dairymen's League and the dealers met with the Federal Food Board and were informed that in view of the fact that the armistice had been signed, the United States Food Administration could no longer take part in fixing the prices of milk. The December price of milk of $4.00, based on use of the Warren Formula, had previously been approved by the Food Administration and accepted by the dealers. Following the conference with the Food Administration on the twentieth, the League tried to make arrangements with the dealers to sell the milk for January but the dealers were secretly preparing for trouble and no satisfactory agreement could be reached. The League, by using the Warren Formula, found that the farmers' costs of January were $4.01 and sent word to the dealers that they would be willing to accept this price for January milk. The dealers on the Saturday before New Year's sent word that they could pay only $3.60 and that this was their ultimatum. The League directors were called and the executive committee reported to them the dealers' offer. The directors then informed the committee that their farmers could not sell for less than $4.01. Late December 31st, it was reported to the League that the dealers were posting a price of $3.60 at their country stations. The League immediately notified the farmers that the milk was not sold. Farmers refused to deliver at every station, then there began a contest the most remarkable in the history of agriculture. From every part of League territory there came many hundreds of reports that farmers were standing absolutely stiff, and telling the executive committee of the League to stand firm, that both leaguers and non-leaguers were back of them for a living price for their product.

Dealers Import State Milk.

On New Year's day, the first day of the fight, there was little milk in New York city despite the fact that farmers had received very little notice that their milk was not sold. Most of the milk that did reach the city came from those dealers who had contracted with the League October first for a six months' contract at Dairymen's League prices, and whose milk was not interfered with. During all the time of the contest the only really good quality milk which has been reaching the city has been the milk regularly sold through the League to independent dealers. The dealers in order to defeat the farmers have gone hundreds of miles outside of League territory into New England and into the Central states, and have brought more or less milk into the city. Claims as to the amount of this milk have been misleading, as many investigations by the League show that at no time has the supply in New York been much over 50 per cent. Milk coming from outside sources has been naturally many days on the road, and is coming from sources where the strict sanitary precautions required by the New York board of health have not been in force, and is at best of very poor quality.

Responsibility on the Milk Dealers.

The League regrets that the city consumer has not been able to get his usual adequate supply of good quality milk, but the consumer should understand that the farmers have a good supply on sale at a reasonable price; that the dealers in order to keep their strangle hold on both the consumer and the farmer are spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to bring in from long distances a quality of milk not fit for human consumption. It is hoped that the consumers will at last realize where the real responsibility for the unfortunate situation rests.

The attitude of the consumer and of the New York City papers has been antagonistic to the farmer. The reason for this is that the consumer is interested in getting milk at a reasonable price and he has been told that the farmer is profiteering. The District Attorney of New York City started a John Doe investigation of the milk situation. He began with the farmers and did not give them a chance to tell their story. While the investigation was going along, the dealers fearing that their turn was soon coming and knowing that they were in no shape to stand an investigation of any kind, went to Mayor Hylan and the District Attorney promised to reduce the price of milk. The mayor told them "to go to it" and the dealers very generously announced a New Year's present to the city consumer of a reduction of 1 cent per quart, every mill of which was taken out of the farmers' cost of production in the dealers' offer of $3.60 per hundred. The dealers' own margin of profit remained the same.

Public Misinformed.

While the John Doe investigation was under way, the League got much notoriety in the city papers, and the public was led to believe that the farmer was profiteering, and that League officials were rascals. Very plausible and cunning advertisements were carried by the dealers to still further mislead the consumer. However, the League has done an immense amount of work to get its side of the case before the editors of the New York City papers. They are now giving the farmers' side of the case and public opinion is fast reversing itself. The consumer is at last beginning to see where the real trouble is in the milk situation.

The city authorities appealed to Governor Smith asking that he send a special message to the legislature repealing the laws passed by the 1918 legislature, favoring co-operation among farmers. The governor, a city man, was about to do this, but information as to the true facts was finally got to him, and he appointed a commission consisting of two representatives of the Dairymen's League, two representatives of the dealers, Dr. Copeland of the New York City Health Department, and Robert S. Dowling, a New York real estate man. Any unprejudiced observer could see that the farmers or men who understand farm conditions were in a minority on this commission. Dr. Copeland soon resigned from the commission, leaving Mr. Dowling as chairman. At this writing the commission is in session trying to bring about a settlement.

Farmers Can Stick Together.

In the meantime the farmers continue to stick. Each day sees them growing soldier and more determined. Whoever says that farmers cannot stick together again will have another guess coming. Never anything in the history of labor unions has resembled the loyalty of all dairymen throughout the entire section to one another and to their organization. The reason for this is easily explained. Their cause is just. They are fighting, not for the January price, but to save the dairy industry. In Orange county, in one small section, thirty-eight car loads of dairy cattle were shipped for slaughter the first few days of the strike. Farmers realize that it is either a case of winning or quitting the business. The money that is being used to fight them is their own money taken from them and from the customers in the past in the exhorbitant profits of the dealers; and used every means to bring about the old conditions that existed before farmers were organized. Farmers are proving that it cannot be done. At a mass meeting at Ulster Thursday, January 9th, when over 2,000 of them filled the great armory to overflowing, they enthusiastically passed resolutions that they never again would sell milk for less than cost of production; that they would build their own country receiving stations, and that they endorsed the executive committee of the Dairymen's League and would stand by them to the limit.

It is a fight, not only for the dairymen but for all farmers and even for the consumer, for there is nothing surer among all economic laws than that if a business doesn't pay, it cannot be continued, and if farmers are driven from the dairy business, where will a sufficient supply at a reasonable price come from? As this is written the strike is in its fourteenth day. There are signs that the dealers cannot continue it much longer. Even their large amounts of money must run out after a time. If farmers continue to sit tight, and there is no doubt but that they will, there can be no doubt of the outcome.

TABASCO HEIGHTS.

Tabasco Heights, Jan. 16.—The party given at Asa Wynkoop's on Wednesday evening in honor of our three soldiers boys, Oliver Gray, Chester Wynkoop and Vaughn Decker, who Uncle Sam returned to us unharmed, was one of the most enjoyable times of the season. Everyone enjoyed themselves with games and music on the organ and singing until 11 o'clock, when refreshments of ice cream, cake, coffee and candies were served. There were guests present from Kerhonkson, Pataunkunk, Samsonville, Valletown, Lehigh and this place. They all departed for their homes in the wee hours, wishing there would be more of our soldier boys returning home, so there could be another party held in honor of them.

Allen Terwilliger and mother of West Hurley have been visiting friends in this place.

Those who spent Sunday at Mrs. J. Wynkoop's were Asa Beesmer and family of Olive Bridge and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wynkoop and grandson of Kerhonkson.

Miss Jerry Van Kleeck has been ill for the past week.

Mrs. Charles Gray has returned home from New York.

Morris Telesky of Kingston spent the latter part of last week with Asa Wynkoop.

Vaughn Decker was in Kerhonkson with a load of hoops on Monday.

Edith Wynkoop and Rachel Rodick expect to take Regents' examinations at Kerhonkson on January 20th and 21st.

Mr. and Mrs. David Buncher and Laura Geroline of Kerhonkson attended the party at Asa Wynkoop's on Wednesday evening last.

Mrs. Asa Wynkoop spent Thursday last at James Horner's at Monticello. We are glad to say Mrs. Horner is on the spin.

Z. Osborn has moved his family to New York.

Merck Robbers and Lorenza Decker were in Accord Saturday afternoon on a load of staves that Mr. Decker purchased of Miss Phoebe Lawrence.

Monroe Hornbeck spent Friday last with Charles Wynkoop.

Mrs. Anna Bower and daughter, Fannie, are visiting friends in Newburgh, Conn.

Henry Braker is building a new porch on his summer cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Vandeghe Churchill and son of Monticello were visiting on friends in this place on Sunday.

An eager runner looked up in the street before he reached the door.

HOW THE HONORABLE BUT NECESSARY NEEDLE IS MANUFACTURED.

Needles go through many operations in the course of their manufacture. They are first cut in suitable lengths from coils of steel wire. After a bath of such bits as have been cut out, they are placed in a furnace, then rolled until perfectly straight. Next, the needle-maker takes up a dozen or so of the wires and rolls them between his thumb and finger, with their ends on a turning grindstone, first one and then the other being ground. The little steel bobbins are next fed into a machine, which flattens and gutters the heads, after which the eyes are punched. They are a complete needles, but rough and easily bent. Careful heating and sudden cooling give them the necessary temper, and nothing remains but to give them their final polish. On a coarse cloth needles are spread to the number of 10,000 or 50,000. Emery dust is spread over them, oil is sprinkled on, and soft soap dashed over the cloth, which rolled tightly, is thrown into a pot with others, where it rolls about for twelve hours or more. When taken from this friction bath the needles require only a rinsing in clean hot water, when they are ready to be sorted and packed.

GIFT THAT AVERTED STRIFE

How Doll, Presented to Papoose, Influenced Redskins to Return Peacefully to Reservation.

A band of Apache Indians were once induced to go back to their reservation by the gift of a doll to a papoose. The incident was as follows:

General Crook had been trying to put those Apaches back on the reserve, but could not catch them without killing them—an action that did not appeal to him. One day his forces captured a papoose and took her to the fort. She was quiet all day; but her black eyes watched everything. When night came the child broke down and sobbed.

The fort was in despair, until Major Burke, the general's aide-de-camp, borrowed from the adjutant's wife a doll that had been sent to her little girl the previous Christmas. When the young Apache understood that it was hers to keep her sobbing ceased and she fell asleep. When morning came the doll was still clasped tightly in her arms. She played with it all day, and seemingly had given up all thought of ever getting back to her tribe.

So, day after day passed with no sign being made by the tribe, and finally in despite the papoose, with the doll still in her possession, was sent back. When the child reached the tribe with the prize grasped in her chubby hands it created a sensation among the Indians, and her mother later went to the post with it. She was received in a hospitable manner and kindly treated, and the effect of her visit was such that through her overtures were made, with the result that soon afterward the entire band moved back to the reserve.

How Father Handicaps Himself.

It has been noticed that in many cases of influenza the father succumbs to the disease, while the rest of the family gets well.

"I find that the father is less careful of his energy than the rest of the family," said a woman who has been doing a great deal of volunteer nursing since the epidemic. "In the first place, he thinks he has a bad cold and keeps on with his work. Then when it is absolutely necessary for him to stay at home he attends to the furnace and waits on the others who are sick. If every man would go to bed and stay there when he is first ill, it would be much better for his family, as he is the wage earner and the protector generally, and needs care that he may conserve his own energy for the purpose of fighting the disease, and getting well that he may take care of his family as long as they need him."

Why Pullmans Are Put Abroad.

A rearrangement of the order of the passenger coaches on through trains passing through Statesville has been noticed. The Pullmans are carried next to the engine with day coaches, followed by the "Jim Crow" car and baggage and express cars. This reversed order has become a law with through trains, being adopted as a safety measure, that the steel cars may be next the engine. It has been observed in railway wrecks that steel cars in the rear of the train have caught and crushed lighter coaches next the engine, causing great loss of life and property. The carrying of the heavy steel cars next the engine is deemed safer. Statesville (N. C.) Record.

Why Wooden Tie Must Go.

The increasing size and weight of rolling stock and the advancing cost of material and labor make it patent that a substitute must be found for the wooden tie. Both steel and concrete ties have been advocated for years, but the fact remains that they have not come into general use. Two steel and concrete ties of different types, showing the trend of the modern age, are described and illustrated in Popular Mechanics Magazine. Each of these ties has been given try outs on sections of different railways where the traffic is heavy.

CANNOT LOSE TOAD

Little Amphibian Has Strong Homing Instinct.

Like the Proverbial Cat, He Will Come Back to His Fixed Abode if There Is Any Possibility of His Doing It.

When I was a boy down on Cape Cod, writes a friend of the Companion, I remember my mother strapping the side of a toad with her hoe while working in the garden. The next day mother noticed there was a large crab in the toad's side. It made her nervous to look at it, and she asked me to put the toad in a box and carry it away. I carried the toad a distance of three miles into the woods and dropped him. He was back in our garden the very next day; and although I repeated the performance three times, it happened back every time. Finally mother said not to bother him, for the scab was healing.

I never gave that a second thought until I happened to be studying under Professor Sharp at Boston university, when, to illustrate a point to the class, he said that toads, like carrier pigeons, possessed the homing instinct; then I thought of the toad that mother had asked me to carry away from our garden at Provincetown, 20 years before.

It happened next morning after Professor Sharp made the remark about the homing instinct of hop-toads that a freight conductor came into the signal tower where I am employed and showed me a hop-toad he had picked up on the lawn at the Saugus station and brought to Boston in his caboose; he said he intended to put the toad in his garden at Somerville to eat the bugs.

I told the conductor about the experience I had with a toad down on Cape Cod and that Professor Sharp had said that toads did really possess the homing instinct. Finally, we decided to tie a small tag to the toad's hind leg with the conductor's name and address written on it; and he was to turn the toad loose in his garden at Somerville that afternoon. When the conductor's train arrived at Saugus the next noon the toad with a tag on which his name was written was hopping round on the lawn at the Saugus station.

In order to prove still further that toads do really possess the homing instinct I took a toad from my garden at Wakefield, ten miles from Boston. Putting the toad in a box, I walked to the Wakefield station and took a train for Boston at half-past ten in the evening. When I arrived in Boston I transferred to the Elevated and rode to Charlestown, and at the corner of Perkins and Haverhill streets, Charlestown, one mile from Boston, near the signal tower where I work, I released the toad. The toad was tagged with my name and address.

As I walked into my driveway in Wakefield at half-past eight the next morning a dusty-looking toad with a small tag tied to his hind leg hopped across the lawn from the direction of the Metropolitan park reservation and placed himself under the sill cock, where the water dripped on him and bathed his dusty back.—Youth's Companion.

Historic Firth of Forth.

The Firth of Forth is, of course, one of the most notable things in all Scotland. From Kinross, where it officially begins, to that imaginary line just west of the Isle of May, from the East Nook of Fife to the mouth of the Tyne, in Haddingtonshire, where it officially ends, is a distance of 45 miles, while from shore to shore the expanse of water measures anything from one and a half miles at Queensferry to seventeen and a half miles off the Isle of May. Within this great expanse of water whole fleets may ride at anchor in perfect safety, and although little is known of the great scenes which must have taken place in these waters during the last four years, the story of the Firth of Forth during the great war, culminating, as it did the other day, with the surrender there of the German high seas fleet, will be not the least interesting of the many stories which still remain to be written.

The Military Haircut.

"We are all militarists now," said Representative Kirby of Arkansas. "I was being shaved in a barber shop the other day when a grizzled chap in a captain's uniform came in. He saluted smartly and seated himself in the chair next to my own. 'Hair cut,' he said in gruff tones. 'How would you like it cut, sir?' the barber asked.

"The captain, who was baldish, answered, gruffer than ever: 'Line up the hairs and number off to the right, add numbers each want a half inch off. Dress smartly with bay run and brilliancy. Then dismiss.'"

Easy Money.

"You have grown rich as a stock promoter," "Yes," replied the man who wore a diamond watch chain. "How did you get into that line of business?" "I realized early in life that it is human nature for people to want their chickens before they are hatched." "How?" "That makes it easy to sell them young eggs."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Barbets for Lunatics.

Barbets have been worn from time immemorial, but few masters of the golden rule of the present day know that they were once used to discipline the insane. Before lunatics were confined in asylums they were no more, for for discipline.

CATCH THE SPIRIT OF PROSPERITY

W. S. S. Facts for 1919

Thrift Stamps of 1919 are identical with those of 1918. Thrift Stamps bought in 1918 may be exchanged for War Savings Stamps of the new issue on the same basis as last year. No new Thrift Card is necessary.

War Savings Stamps for the convenience of the public are somewhat smaller in size than the 1918 issue, are blue in color and carry a portrait of Benjamin Franklin, the great American advocate of sensible spending.

Except in appearance, however, War Savings Stamps of the new issue are unchanged from those of last year. They can be purchased from the same agencies which sold the 1918 issue. They cost $4.12 in January and one cent additional each month throughout the year. On January 1, 1924, the Government will pay you $5.00 for each War Savings Stamp of this issue. This represents interest on your money at 4 per cent, compounded quarterly.

War Savings Stamps do not have to be cashed in or converted to the new issue. Save them! The Government will pay you Five Dollars for each one you hold on January 1, 1923, whether your card is filled or not.

New Cards are necessary for your 1919 War Savings Stamps. Do not paste the new blue stamps on your old 1918 W. S. S. card. Ask for a new card when you buy your first stamp of the new issue.

Maximum Holding In addition to the amount bought during 1918, you may purchase a maximum of $1,000 worth of War Savings Stamps during 1919. You may purchase this maximum for each member of your family.

LEGISLATIVE PROBLEMS

Of State to Be Discussed at First Dutch Church.

The Rev. Mr. Miller will speak at the First Dutch Church this evening at prayer meeting on questions now before the legislature concerning which every citizen should be acquainted. The Bolshevist element who would overthrow our most cherished institutions are especially active at Albany and eternal vigilance is the price the people must pay for their country and their homes. Mr. Miller who is in closest touch with the forces at work will give an inside view of the situation. All are invited.

Noted Colored Woman.

Soljourner Truth was a colored woman born in New York state, probably about the middle of the eighteenth century, as she was middle aged at the time of Washington's death, in 1799. That was not her real name, but she assumed it for reasons of her own. She was a slave all her life until set free by an act of the New York legislature in 1827, abolishing slavery in that state. July 4, 1827, Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe wrote a life of her.

COUNTY RED CROSS AUXILIARIES MET

At the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday and Heard Details of New Finance Plan Outlined by Frank Cuykendall—Judge Hasbrouck Present.

There was an unusually well attended and interesting meeting of the various auxiliaries and branches of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross held at the Y. M. C. A. at noon on Wednesday. The representatives were served with a delicious luncheon, consisting of sandwiches, home made cake and coffee and connections, prepared and served by the Red Cross workers of the First Reformed Dutch Church.

The Ellenville and Saugerties branches, and the following auxiliaries were represented by one, two or three representatives: Clintonville, Edenville, High Falls, Hurley, Highland, Marlborough, Milton, New Paltz, Port Jervis, Rosendale, Rochester, Shokan, Stone Ridge, Shandaken, St. Remy, Walkkill and Woodstock.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman of the Ulster County Chapter, Judge Hasbrouck, who stated that the meeting had been called for the express purpose of presenting to the branches and auxiliaries the proposed change in financial administration as planned by the Atlantic Division and to learn the sense of the various sub-divisions of the chapter relative thereto. Those present were asked to consider carefully the proposed change; to take back the news of the same to their local organizations and to report back to the chapter one week from Wednesday, that is January 22nd, as to their attitude toward the project. Judge Hasbrouck then expressed to those present the feeling of the chapter that all of the work of the chapter relative to the war had been made so much easier and more efficient because of the hearty support of the branches and auxiliaries throughout the county. And at once and taken part in this work, at no matter how great sacrifice, could well feel that they had helped in the accomplishing of the greatest piece of work of all time, and the bringing to an end of the greatest struggle of all time. The speaker was sure that with the one exception of the guns and shells, no other organization had done as much to bring to an end this war, as had the great Red Cross. It had proven to be the most significant organization the world has ever had, typifying the very soul of God as has other organizations. And because of this the people have given of their money and their time and effort.

But it would be a most grievous mistake to think that the work of the Red Cross is now ended. It is not. But with the cessation of fighting and the change to a time of peace, the judge explained it had been found wise by the National Red Cross to somewhat change its policy of administration to fit the new conditions. This new policy is briefly outlined by the judge was this: That now the chapters, branches and auxiliaries are requested to turn over such of their funds as would be used for the purchase of materials—not such as would be needed for the administration of their local organization or the effective promotion of their home service work—into the Atlantic Division (for our chapter), and the chapter, branches and auxiliaries to receive hereafter all of its material for work, free of charge from the Atlantic Division.

One point Judge Hasbrouck made very emphatic, and it was reiterated by Mr. Cuykendall, and that was that the money raised for the Red Cross by the people of our land, was raised for all Red Cross work not for any chapter, branch or auxiliary, and therefore it was incumbent upon the sub-divisions of the National organization to be willing to do whatever is to the best interest of the Red Cross as a whole.

Before turning over the meeting to Frank Cuykendall, chairman of the administrative committee, Judge Hasbrouck said he wanted to compliment each branch and auxiliary on the part they had taken in a work which had helped to bring about the greatest result in the history of all time.

Judge Hasbrouck, then, with a few merited words of appreciation introduced Frank Cuykendall, who fully outlined the project which had been the occasion of the meeting. Mr. Cuykendall stated that at a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Red Cross, it had been brought to the attention of the chapter that the proposed change in manner of operation was probable and it was deemed wise to bring the matter before the auxiliaries and branches, for their consideration. While the Atlantic Division had put the matter in the form of a request, Mr. Cuykendall told that if there was a refusal to comply with the request, it might later come in the form of a mandate.

Up to the present time the only limitation upon any chapter, branch or auxiliary had been ability to do such work as was imposed by the chapter. Branches or Auxiliaries were to pay for needed supplies.

But with the change of work from that of surgical dressings to the present need for hospital garments and refugee garments, the material for which could no longer be bought in sufficient quantities in the open market, the Atlantic Division had requested that the Chapters and their subdivisions turn into the division treasury such funds as they would use for the purchase of materials. The Atlantic Division would then furnish all supplies free of charge, and the only limitation which would now be set upon the work which the Chapters could do for the Red Cross needs would be that of their own efforts. It had been further suggested that the Chapters return to the main treasury their portion of the recent Red Cross Christmas drive and, in addition, such sums as they would feel could be spared from their own treasuries, without leaving them short of funds, with which to run their local organization and care for their home service work.

The question had arisen as to what would become of the funds left in the Chapter treasuries when the war ended, which would be needed for yet another year, was completed, there being the impression in some quarters that it would be allowed to remain to the Chapter's credit. Such is not the case. When the time comes the funds in the various treasuries will be called into the national treasury of the Red Cross as the money raised for the Red Cross, as Judge Hasbrouck had said was for the whole Red Cross and not for any local chapter.

The Atlantic Division wished for a prompt answer to this request, as quite naturally since it must be continually buying supplies and in large quantities it must have at its command money to make such purchases to advantage. For that reason it was asked that after due conference the branches and auxiliaries send in within the week their answers as to the proposal. The question was then raised as to the amount of money that would be needed in the branches and auxiliaries to support the home service work, and Miss Wells, who is now in Kingston representing the home service section of the Atlantic Division, addressed those present, telling of the special needs of that branch of work.

Miss Wells, whose personality and presence won the hearts of all, said that she was in town for a two weeks' tour in order to help in this particular Red Cross effort. She explained that Mrs. Connelley H. Hasbrouck, who had been appointed to be in charge of the local branch of this work under Judge Fowler, was now in New York for a six weeks' special course in this very work, as given by the Red Cross, but that during her absence the work would be well cared for. While for the present financial aid would be needed in many cases, it was hoped that more and more this would be replaced by a need for advice only. One thing Miss Wells considered very important, and that was that when any appeal came from any boy still on the other side as to the conditions of the home people, it be promptly and as cheerfully answered as possible. As nothing like the relief thus given could so keep up the morale of the men still needed on the other side. Another matter needing special care in investigation, was that of men asking for discharge on the grounds of having dependents. All of the financial conditions of the family must be learned in order that these requests for discharge may be properly considered. Still another most important matter was the bringing to the knowledge of the returned men that if at all disabled for work they may receive training which will fit them to earn a livelihood, and at the same time they or their families will continue to receive their pay from the government while taking this training. Also the Red Cross home service section can do all that any one can do to help in the paying of allotments and allowances which have been delayed, etc.

Instruction as to soldiers' and sailors' insurance will also be given by the home service. This is a matter of more importance than is always realized, for a lapse in the paying of payments due in the insurance may mean great difficulty in reinstating the insured.

It is the object of the home service section to keep the families encouraged as well as the men. When asked as to the amount of funds needed to be kept in local treasuries to carry on this work, Miss Wells suggested that in many chapters the money needed, so far as could be estimated, for this work was pooled in a county fund, held by the chapter, with what was known as a revolving fund for each branch or auxiliary, whereby any possibility of delay in action would be obviated, and further suggested that this might be an excellent plan for the Ulster County Chapter.

When the various branch and auxiliary heads were asked as to their opinion regarding the entire matter it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that they were ready willing to comply with the request.

NIAGARA FALLS MEMORIAL

To Soldiers, on Clearwater Plan, Embodied in Senator's Bill.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Jan. 16.—(Special)—Plans to make the Niagara Falls region, replete with natural beauty and historical trainings, a monument to the memory of the soldiers and sailors who fought in the world war are well under way. A bill, to be introduced by Senator George F. Thompson of Niagara Falls, drafted according to the ideas of Judge Albert B. Clearwater of Kingston, is now being whipped into shape and may be ready within a week.

Judge Clearwater is president of the Niagara Falls State Reservation Commission and it is his plan that legislation be enacted so that the commissioners be given similar authority and scope of action as was given to the Palisades Interstate Park Commission, with the end that a state park result. Judge Clearwater would fitly dedicate it to the memory of the American soldiers who answered the call overseas. He proposes that the falls, Fort Niagara and the entire historical environment be included in the public park scheme.

In discussing the bill, Senator Thompson said today that he was not entirely familiar with the full details of the proposed plan, but that he sympathized fully with Judge Clearwater's idea and thought it eminently fitting that a move to publicly recognize the patriotism of the soldiers and sailors of the American army and navy.

"The bill, as I understand it, is very broad in its scope. It will confer additional jurisdiction upon the Niagara Falls State Reservation commissioners, provide a sufficient appropriation to permit of ample improvements and make immediate provision for certain expenditures for such improvements. The measure may also provide for an annual appropriation. I am not certain. I do know, however, that when the plans for the carrying out of the details have been completed, that there will nowhere be a more lasting or beautiful monument to American patriotism. The whole scheme has been presented by Judge Clearwater and to my mind it is a very worthy idea."

Legislation of a similar character has never before been attempted, so far as is known. Senator Thompson thinks that the identity of Niagara Falls, famous as it is all over the civilized world, will not be interfered with. He believes, however, that when the provisions of Judge Clearwater's plans have been carried out, that some sort of name will be given the monument to clearly acknowledge the debt of New York state to its valiant sons who answered the call to the colors during the world war.

Game Law Summary For Hunters.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—To aid trappers and hunters the U. S. Department of Agriculture has issued Farmers' Bulletin 1922, "Laws Relating to Fur Bearing Animals," which is a summary of legislation in the United States, Canada, and Newfoundland, relating to trapping, open seasons, propagation, and bounties. Under the stimulus of high prices there is always danger that trappers will deplete the trapping grounds and permanently decrease the number of fur animals. The Federal specialists say. Regulations and seasons should be carefully observed, so that the fur supply of the future shall not be endangered. For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1918, the foreign trade of the United States in raw and manufactured furs reached the largest total in the history of the country. While exports were only $12,903,631 as compared with $15,729,169 for 1917, the imports were $28,339,372 as compared with $21,553,375 for 1917. The total foreign trade in fur increased over 40 per cent.

The Sun and Flowers.

In flowers of the common nasturtium the low sun of the early morning developed yellow coloring matter, the middle sun brought out the reds and the midday sun stimulated the violets, blues and purples, according to observations by Col. R. E. Rowson, in a report to the Royal Microscopical Society.

Real Meaning of Expression.

"Don't care a fig" is one of the commonest of expressions, but it isn't correct and means little, whereas the original has some real meaning: "Don't care a flea." The word flea is used by Shakespeare and is a Roman word meaning a contemptuous snapping of the fingers.

EXPRESS DRIVERS DEMAND.

Thirty Dollar Increase in Chicago Or Will Quit Work.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Chicago's 1,500 express drivers and conductors will today present to the wage committee of the American Railway Express Company demands for a flat $30 a month wage increase and an eight hour working day, and at the same time serve notice that unless the demands are granted immediately they are prepared to strike within twenty-four hours. At a workers' meeting last night the men voted almost unanimously for a strike. The business agent of the drivers' union declared that the men now average $35 per month and are unable to wait longer for a living wage.

Modern Dancing Taught.

In addition to her successful classes of instruction in children's dancing, both modern and æsthetic, which includes the Greek interstices, the characteristic, the National and the folk dances, Miss Delta Boice is now about to open classes in modern dancing for grown-ups. A specialty will be made of teaching the fox trot, the one-step and the waltz at the classes for adults. This will indeed be welcome news to many of our Kingstonians who have long wished that Miss Boice, who has so artistically successful would instruct them as well as children. Miss Boice's studio is at 372 Park street directly over Weissberg's tailoring parlors. All persons wishing to take advantage of this opportunity should notify Miss Boice at once in order to have the benefit of the full instruction to be given in the newly formed classes.

GLORY OF ART STILL LIVES

Despite the War in All Its Bitterness the More Pleasing Impulses Continue to Reign Supreme.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

One great human interest which feels the grip of the war in all its bitterness and no less in its inspiring glories, still keeps its place above the fierce shocks and bewildering changes of the times. Art thrills to every impulse that stirs the heart and soul of the world but it does not lose its hold on beauty. It yearns with sympathy and glows with fine consciousness of the best and most that the nations battling for justice and freedom can give, but it does not cease to make eternal principles and purposes its guiding force, its compass and its chart. Painters still seek and now and again find the very soul of nature's varying moods. Sculptors still carve cold marble into the image of life and make it eloquent in its appeal to thought and feeling. Musicians still voice the deepest longings of the spirit and speak a language international and immortal. Art lives—as nature lives, beyond the power of the most fearful convulsions of the world's fury to destroy or stifle into temporary paralysis.

It is well that such a refuge remains open to humanity. It is monstrous that any nation should wantonly strike at so beneficent an element in human life.—Exchange.

WILL KNIT IN KHAKI LATER

Pretty Girl Working in Blue to First Try on Herself. She Advises Inquisitive Commuter.

On a Long Island suburban train a marvelously pretty blonde girl lowered exquisite golden lashes over large, blue eyes while she worked knitting needles over some sky blue yarn, mused the New York World. An elderly male commuter, one who had a sporty touch of gold color to his morning attire, leaned over from a seat on the other side of the aisle and said in all respectfulness: "My dear child, they couldn't possibly wear anything of that color—sky blue, you know. You should knit in brown—khaki color, may I suggest?" She took no offense. "Of course," the girl answered, without looking up from her work, "but I'm just learning knitting and I'd explain to you about some of these stitches if you could possibly understand. The idea is that I'm first knitting something that I'll try on myself. Then, sir, if there is not too much knottiness in my knitting I'll go to work in khaki for—all the soldiers."

A Caddy Story.

The gentleman was learning to play golf and it had been too much for the caddy who had been too much for the caddy. The caddy had made valiant efforts at first, but by the third hole he was helpless with mirth. The gentleman fixed him with a cold eye and said: "What do you think I'll give you on your word if you are so silly and idle all the time? Do you think you'll get a 'good'?" "No," replied the caddy. "I'll get a 'V. O.'"

NO ATTRACTION NOW.

Mrs. Gotham—I met your friend Mr. Huggins, today.

Mr. Gotham—(over his paper)—Oh, did you?

"Yes. And he said you never called to see him at his office any more."

"Oh, did he?"

"Yes. You know you used to like to call at his office very often."

"Yes, I know."

"Well, why don't you now?"

"Well, you see, he had some trouble with his girl stenographers and typewriters, and he's got the cheeliest lot of female key punchers now you ever saw!"

An Uncertainty.

"I've voted for you every time you ran for anything," said the victim's constituent.

"I trust," replied Senator Sorghum, "you feel that your course was prompted by good judgment."

"I can't tell for sure. Sometimes I think it's good judgment and sometimes I think it's just a forgiving nature."

No Longer Vexed.

"I suppose some of these public questions vex you a great deal?"

"No," said Senator Sorghum. "I have ceased my efforts to solve every problem that arises. The way to keep questions from vexing you is to be the fellow that asks them instead of the fellow that tries to answer them."
